CTC Accident Line

The CTC legal advice scheme is totally free to CTC members, whether your case is won or lost. The specialist team, led by keen cyclist and partner Paul Kitson, represents CTC members across the UK. CTC Accident Line has extensive experience in helping CTC members obtain compensation for their injuries following an accident, whether cycling to or from work, or for leisure.

Many cyclists find it difficult to bring a claim against those responsible for their injuries, whether it is a motorist or a local authority. With many years of legal expertise, Russell Jones & Walker's personal injury solicitors can help you with even the most complex of claims.

CTC Accident Line has the highest reputation for handling injury compensation cases, and our latest survey of CTC members showed that 100% of members are satisfied with the service they receive. We have helped thousands of CTC members to get back on the road.
